USES OF WEB 3.0

Web 3.0, also known as the "semantic web" or the decentralized web, represents the next evolution of the internet. It emphasizes user ownership, decentralization, enhanced privacy, and intelligent data interpretation using blockchain and AI technologies.

1. Decentralized Finance (DeFi)
2. Data Ownership
3. Decentralized Applications (dApps)
4. Smart Contracts
5. Enhanced Search and AI Integration
6. NFTs and Digital Identity

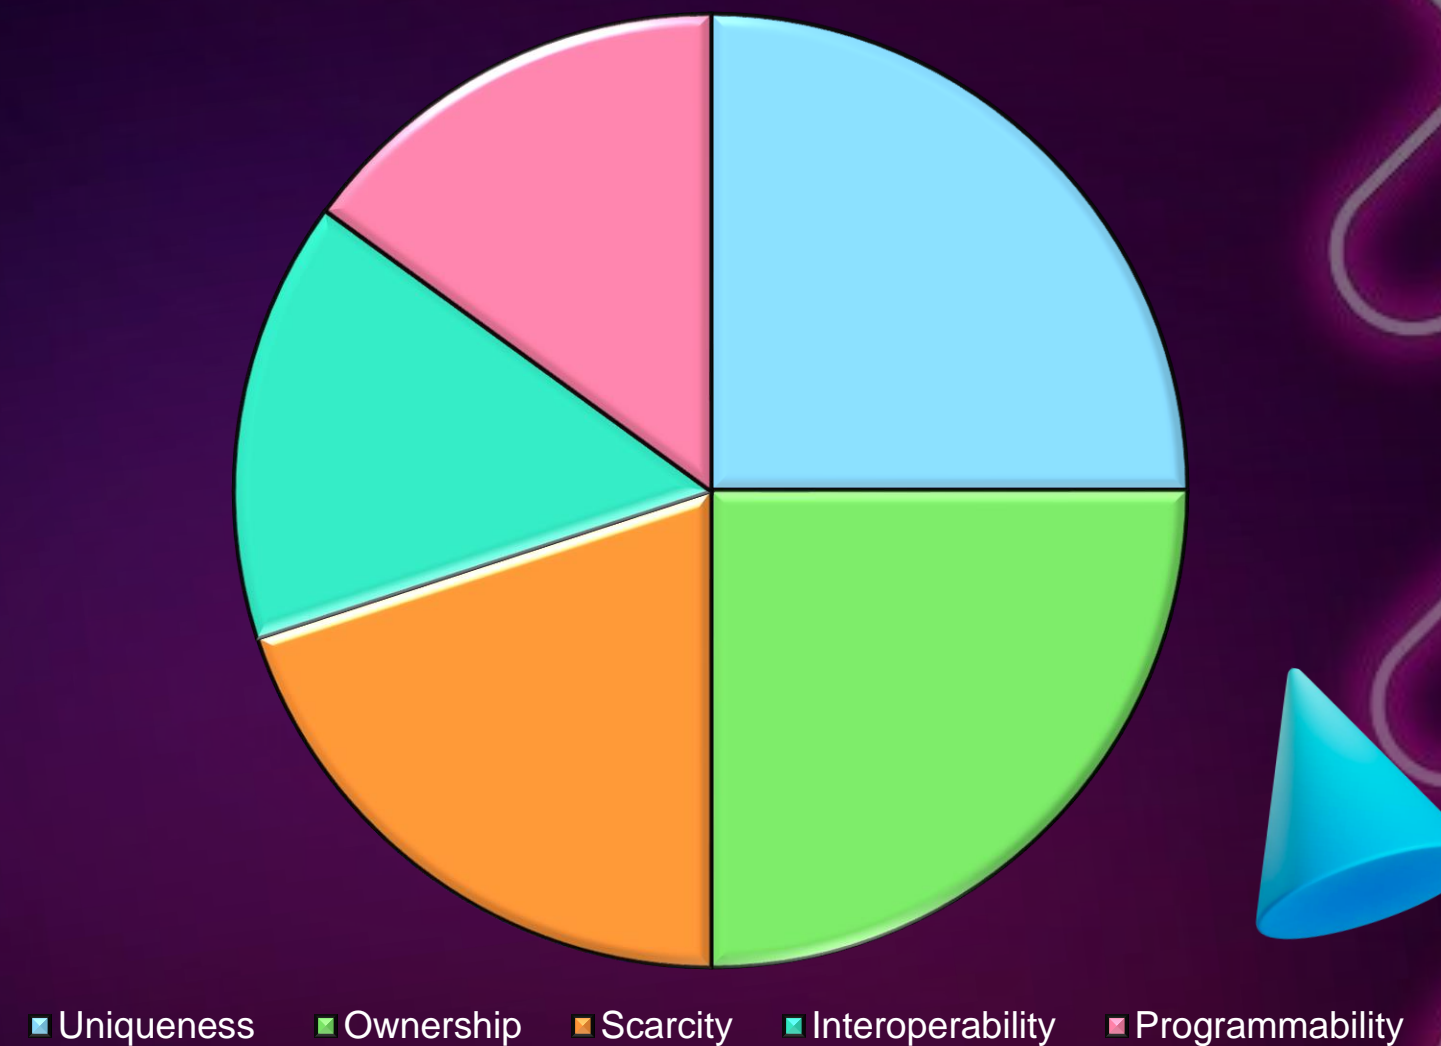

PRINCIPAL'S OF NFT

Non-Fungible Tokens (NFTs) are unique digital assets stored on a blockchain, representing ownership of digital or physical items like art, music, or virtual real estate. Unlike cryptocurrencies, NFTs are indivisible and non-interchangeable.

5 Core Principles of NFTs:

- 1.Uniqueness: Each NFT has distinct metadata and characteristics, making it one-of-a-kind and not interchangeable.
- 2.Ownership: NFTs provide verifiable proof of ownership recorded on the blockchain, which cannot be tampered with.
- 3.Scarcity: Creators can limit the number of NFTs, adding value through controlled supply.
- 4.Interoperability: NFTs can be used across various platforms and virtual environments that support the same standards (like Ethereum's ERC-721).
- 5.Programmability: NFTs can include smart contract features for royalties, transfers, and interactive functions.
